GREENVILLE NEWS.

Funeral of Mrs. Daniel Bridge—Notes and Personal.

The body of Mrs. Emily Bridge, widow of Daniel Bridge, and a former resident of Norwich, arrived at Greenville on the 11:40 train Friday morning from Fall River, and was taken in charge by Funeral Director George O. Grant. Services were conducted at 12 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. F. J. Johnson, and relatives and friends were present. Selections were rendered by the choir. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Relatives acted as bearers. Burial was in the family plot in Yantic cemetery.

Notes.

William Malone of Providence was a visitor in town Friday.

Joseph O'Keefe, aged 18 months, died at the home of his parents, Patrick and Mary Crowe O'Keefe, on Seventh street, Friday.

At 8 o'clock Friday morning there was a month's mind mass of requiem for Mrs. Michael J. Curran in St. Mary's church and relatives and friends were present.

NORWICH TOWN

Good Attendance at Men-Religion Meeting—Birds Enjoy Free Lunch—Thimble Bee.

There was a good attendance at the second in the series of meetings concerning the Men and Religion Forward Movement, held Thursday evening in the chapel of the First Congregational church. Rev. G. H. Ewing was in charge, and helpful thoughts were given by him in regard to work by men for men. Emphasis was laid on supporting the church in its different forms of work—Sunday school and weekly meetings. A free discussion followed, in which fifteen took part. Rev. C. A. Northrop said that the place to begin is with work already organized and that all should be faithful to that.

Greedy, Unidentified Birds.

At one of the homes on Verguson avenue a flock of birds comes regularly every morning to be fed. Among them are the nuthatch, brown creeper, junco, bluejay, and a group of ten or twelve big, awkward birds with black wings, dark gray bodies and white breasts. These birds carry off large pieces of food at once, and walk on the ground like a turkey. They have been seen one at a time on Huntington lane this week. Those who have seen them are anxious to find out the name of the bird.

A Healthy Locality.

New cases of grip, bronchitis and throat trouble are reported this week about town.

Thimble Bee at Mrs. Joslin's.

The Thursday Afternoon Sewing club met with Mrs. May Joslin of Verguson avenue this week. In the serving of dainty refreshments Mrs. Joslin was assisted by Mrs. W. F. Thacher. There was a good attendance and all enjoyed the afternoon.

Heard and Seen.

In spite of the cold, pussy willows are pushing their way out into the world.

Miss Ruby Fenton of Elm avenue has returned after a visit with relatives in Jewett City.

Mrs. W. F. Thacher returned Friday, after several weeks' visit. Mrs. Fred D. Verguson of Sylvia lane.

Miss Cecile Hale of New Haven is the guest of her cousin, Miss Natalie F. Allen, at her home on Town street for the week end.

The Saturday evening oyster supper will be given this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Chapman, on Verguson avenue. A social hour will follow the supper.

Rev. P. C. Wright Spoke.

Rev. P. C. Wright spoke the speaker on Friday evening at the special services at the Montauk Avenue Baptist church, New London. A male quartette of Norwich singers was heard in several selections, the members of the quartette being George A. Turner, Charles B. Carley, John E. Vaughn, and Charles S. Eaton.

Norwich Rejoices On News of Victory

Enthusiasm at Fever Heat at Announcement of Success of Army in South and West Fifty Years Ago—Volunteer Militia Company Organized and Recruits For Artillery Company Being Received.

News of the victories in the south sent a thrill of excitement through the residents of 50 years ago as they read the despatches telling of victories in all directions. Extra were issued by The Bulletin, there being two one day, while there was also a big demonstration.

Bela P. Learned was meeting with good success in securing recruits here for the artillery company and 45 names were enrolled at this time 50 years ago. A volunteer militia company was being organized in the city and S. R. Parlin was made captain.

The following items were taken from The Bulletin of 1862 corresponding to the week ending Sunday:

Feb. 12, 1862—According to latest information received, General Burnside's forces have succeeded, after a fight of two days and a half, in taking Roanoke Island, and the Stars and Stripes now wave in triumph over the rebel batteries at that point.

At the Ninth republican senatorial convention held at Salem, Horace Smith of Colchester was the nominee of the delegates for senator.

The inhabitants of Jewett City are much excited over the introduction of mailboxes. Six or seven cases are reported. Messrs. Slaters' mills are stopped, district school suspended, public gatherings forbidden and a general blockade proclaimed. One physician has left town for fear of being illegally dealt with.

Feb. 13, 1862—Bela P. Learned, lately assistant adjutant general of this state, has opened a recruiting office in Chelsea building for Colonel Tyler's First Connecticut artillery, late the Fourth C. V. An excellent opportunity is thus afforded to enlist in a crack regiment in good quarters. The pay, moreover, is more than that of infantry. J. H. Tingley of this city, a member of Captain Chester's company, Second C. V., will recruit in Windham county.

A volunteer militia company is in process of formation in this city. A meeting to organize by election of officers is to be held in J. T. Fanning's office, Thames bank building, on the 17th.

The democrats in state convention at Middletown nominated J. C. Loomis of Bridgeport for governor and T. H. C. Kingsbury of Franklin for state treasurer. The report of the convention says, among other things: It takes forever to get here by roundabout ways and longer still to get back. For indescribable dullness and unmitigated stupidity, I put this town several places in front of New London. Indeed, the Norwich delegation has already passed a vote to that effect, and notified the New London delegation of the fact, which pleased Fred Allen.

Feb. 14, 1862—A patent was granted Alva E. Smith for improvement in trucks for locomotives.

The iron gunboat is to be launched at Mystic today. Many are going to see it.

Two carloads of recruits came down on the steamboat train last night on the way to the seat of war, via New York.

Feb. 15, 1862—The Thames bank is paying the 7.50 U. S. coupons due on the 19th inst. on presentation.

Sergeant Moulton of this city has been appointed second lieutenant of Company E, Thirtieth regiment, Captain Tisdale. Lieutenant Miner was with Colonel Birge as his private secretary when the latter was major of the Fourth regiment.

Three Connecticut regiments accompanied the expedition of General Burnside from Fortress Monroe. They were the Eighth, Tenth and Eleventh. Colonel Harland being in command of the Eleventh.

Capt. Charles C. Hillard, a native and

Holdsworth and Clarke

NOMINATED BY SOCIALISTS.

Endorsed by Norwich Local for State Representatives to National Convention.

The regular meeting of Norwich local socialist party, was presided over Thursday evening in their hall in the Stead building by William Reddick, chairman, and among the business matters presented was an acknowledgment from the Lawrence strikers of $70 received. The local has $10 more to send.

Nomination was made of five able representatives to the national convention, these including Fred Holdsworth and Edward Perkins (Clarke from the Norwich local).

A visiting member of the party from Bristol, Mr. Hare, told of socialist gains there and in Terryville, and the local adopted four propositions for the referendum. These endorsed Charles Edward Russell for nomination or president, the nomination of a woman for vice president, neutrality as to the form of economic organization of the working classes, and the recommendation that every effort be made to defeat the passage of any measure looking to the prevention of any socialist speaker or paper from expressing their opinion as to the economic organization of the working classes.

It was announced that the speaker for the next meeting would be Charles Curtiss of Willimantic.

NORWICH-WESTERLY CARS.

New Ones Put Into Use and Attract Much Attention.

The new maroon colored cars of the Norwich and Westerly Traction company were put into use on Thursday. There are four of the new passenger cars and a freight car. They are built by the J. S. Brill company of Philadelphia and have a seating capacity of 44 persons. They are finished inside with light colored wood and have canvas seats. The ventilators are in the roof, which is of the monitor type. The car has a 40 horse power motor and weighs 20 tons. The old cars, which were much heavier than the new ones and have been in use six years, are to be disposed of. The new cars are expected to make a decided improvement in the service, and were put into use with the change of schedule.

New Job for County Commissioners.

Capt. George Haven of the New London police force received in Wednesday's mail a singular request from a Montville woman who wants to have his father and mother arrested. The writer, who says he is 30 years old, wants to get married; names the girl, and calls upon Captain Haven for assistance. The father and mother object. If Captain Haven refuses to help this ardent swain, he swears he will take the matter up with the county commissioners.

Captain Haven says the county commissioners will have an opportunity to take action, if it depends on him.

W. C. T. U. Food Sale.

A sale of food and useful articles was successfully conducted on Friday afternoon at Hamilton's shoe store, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. There was a generous patronage for the hours of the sale, between 8 and 6 o'clock, and a good sum will be realized.

Unclaimed Letters.

The list of unclaimed letters at the Norwich postoffice for the week ending February 17, 1912, follows:

Mrs. Abbie Bailey, C. N. Bemis, Mary E. Booth, Lottie Chester, Felix Garreau, Mrs. M. J. Learned, B. Abe

for many years a resident of this city, died on the passage home from Port Royal in the storehouse Relief, which arrived in New York Thursday.

The steamer New London on the 23rd of December captured the schooner Gypsy inside Horn Island, near Pascagoula, where the crew set fire to her and deserted her. The fire was extinguished. She had a cargo of cotton.

Cyrus R. Park and Josephine T. Clifford of South Edgcomb, Me., were married here Feb. 13 by Rev. Dr. Bond.

Feb. 17, 1862—James Williams, a member of the Jackson Guards (Captain McGuire) of the Second New York artillery died in camp of typhoid fever at Alexandria last week. He was an old resident of Norwich and one of the first who enlisted for the war under Captain McGuire.

The recruiting office opened by Bela P. Learned is doing a good business. Mr. Learned may be found at the office during the day and evening.

The difficulties before reported in the Thirtieth regiment have been quieted. Nearly all the men have now been paid off. The regiment numbers 500 men, rank and file. It has secured marching orders and will leave New Haven next week.

Glorious news comes to us from along our lines. The capture of Roanoke Island is followed by the planting of the Stars and Stripes on the old North Coast. Burnside follows up his victory with an energy that means something more than the bare occupancy of a single position. Lander has occupied Hancock and opened the B. and O. railroad to that point; Buell has crossed the river and occupied Fort Green, late stronghold of the rebels. Curtis and Selgel are clearing out Missouri of the last traces of the rebellion, while Port Donelson in Tennessee but just holds out in the last struggle of desperate against an overwhelming federal force.

Feb. 18, 1862—A volunteer militia company was organized in this city last evening by the election of the following officers: Captain, S. R. Parlin; Lieutenant, Frank C. Chester; Sergeant, John T. Fanning. The non-commissioned officers were not chosen. The company now numbers 45 men.

Norwich was not far behind her sister cities Monday in patriotic jubilation over the glorious news from Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina and Georgia, which has crowded in on us in the last few days. Flags were displayed throughout the city, a salute of 100 guns was fired on the wharf, a spunky little piece thundered its hurrahs in a small way on Franklin square, and along towards midnight a number of patriotic young men started a bonfire on the square, which, helped along by reinforcements of barrels and boxes, blazed away through the night. Everybody, or almost everybody, congratulated everybody else and but very few seemed unhappy at the turn affairs have taken.

At 1 p. m. we issued an extra containing brief announcements of the victory in Tennessee and at half past 4 a second edition with such particulars of the battle as had come to hand.

Sergeant Moulton of Willimantic, of Captain Harland's company, Third C. V., captured at Bull Run and recently released from Richmond, is a hero of a story going the rounds of the state papers to the effect that while in prison he made a "company" of his beautiful and wealthy young lady of that city. The story relates how she sent him money, clothing and luxuries without stint.
